21 EXCEPTIONS TO REPORT ON
22 CHALLENGED BALLOTS AND OBJECTIONS

23 Petitioner files this limited exception to the failure of the Region to set for hearing
24 objections 28 and 36. Objection 28 in its entirety reads:

25 The Employer hired anti-union thugs who campaigned against the Union in 26 the plant. They campaigned day in and day out in one-on-one meetings and 27 in group meetings. Their conduct was coercive and interfered with the free choice of employees. The anti-union thugs failed to file their Form LM-20s preventing the Petitioner from disclosing to the employees the vast amounts of money which was spent on them. They refused to disclose their true 28 identities to the employees further coercing employees.

1 Evidence was presented throughout the investigation of this that there were numerous anti-
2 union thugs also known as anti union consultants in the plant to engage in various unfair labor
3 practices. The Region is refusing to recognize that these are anti-union thugs although it has set for 4 hearing various other misconduct by these thugs and other agents of the Employer. Objection 28
5 should be set for hearing along with other objections.

6 Objection 36 in its entirety reads:

7 The Employer has violated basic human and international rights.

8 Since 1948, Convention 87 of the International Labor Organization has governed the 9 freedom of the association and protection of the right to organize. It has been filed with various 10 other international conventions on which the United States is party to. These conventions and 11 international law all recognize the rights of employees to organize.

12 It is time that the Labor Board recognize these international rights and recognize that the 13 violations of these rights should warrant appropriate action by the Board. These objections should 14 be set for hearing on the basis that the Employer violated basic international labor rights.
